Clinical Trials Workshop

May 2 - 3, 2019

Jennings Hall – 3rd floor Auditorium (Room 355)
Register: https://go.osu.edu/clinicaltrials2019

This workshop will leverage the expertise of OSU faculty in the Departments of Biomedical Informatics, Statistics, and in the Division of Biostatistics, College of Public Health. Our goals are to have participants:

- Appraise the strengths and weaknesses of clinical trials
- Distinguish among the phases of clinical trials
- Choose the appropriate design for research objectives
- Identify the statistical implications of data collection and trial management

This workshop is open to all junior faculty, clinicians, fellows, residents, and researchers who wish to train and gain expertise in clinical trial design.

Four (category 1) CME credits are available for this workshop.

Fee to Participate: $120 if registered by April 1st (includes breakfast and lunch).
